IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Due to the recent rise in postage costs, we are attempting to reduce the mail out of our monthly newsletter.

From now onwards, only those who request a copy of the newsletter in the post will receive one. So if you wish to continue receiving the newsletter via post, PLEASE contact our staff and let us know. You can contact us via email or telephone. If you don't, you will no longer find a copy in your mail box each month.

As always, the newsletter is accessible every month on Facebook, on our website, in the salon, and via email. If you don't mind receiving the newsletter via email, contact us to ensure we have your email address, and you will be added to the mailing list.

If you do join our email list, ensure you add Raptch'au to your safe senders list, to ensure the newsletters do not end up in your junk mail box.

We thank you for your understanding!

THINGS TO KNOW WHEN PREPARING FOR A WEDDING

SPRAY TANNING: If you plan on having a spray tan for your wedding ensure you have a trial or two before the tan for your big day. These trials will allow you to decide which colour tan you like best and also enable you to decide when to book your tan before the wedding based on whether you like the colour of the tan the day after being sprayed or two days after.

NO SUN 4 WEEKS PRIOR! This means no sun tanning (but you should not be sun tanning at all, EVER)! Prevent tan lines as much as possible; no tan lines are best as we will never completely be able to match a sun tan. If you happen to get burnt before and are likely to peel DO NOT have a spray tan as this will look worse when skin starts to peel.

NO NEW FACIAL TREATMENTS 2 WEEKS BEFORE: If you are looking to brighten your complexion before your wedding day we can provide you with a range of facial treatments to get your skin looking fresh. These treatments need to start at least 6 months before the day as this gives your skin time to adjust to the treatments and new products. You won't see noticeable improvements starting just a couple of weeks before the wedding. Along with facial treatments, drinking more water will make a noticeable change to the appearance of your skin.

FACIAL WAXING: Make sure any facial waxing is done a week before or at the latest on the Monday before a Saturday wedding.

NAILS: When it comes nails for a wedding, here at Raptcha'u we recommend a shellac manicure rather than a full set of acrylics. Acrylic nails are recommended for those who are looking to have them long term rather than for a special event. A shellac manicure provides high shine polish and lasting wear and is available in range of colours including many bridal shades. If you are leaning towards acrylic nails purely for length a better alternative to this is special occasion nails (have the look of acrylic but are short term). A shellac manicure can be done a few days before the wedding, however special occasion nails and a manicure with regular polish (depending on how the individual's nail holds the polish) should be done the day before to ensure they are looking high-quality on the day.

HAIR COLOUR: We recommend colouring your hair 1 week prior to the wedding day. This ensures that the colour has a chance to settle in (especially if you are a blonde or have blonde highlights – the toner can wear in), without any regrowth coming through.

We are excited to announce we have recently introduced two new styling product ranges into the salon....

AMERICAN CREW and STYLE MASTERS

American Crew leads the way in the men's grooming business. With their passionate commitment to men's grooming they have the purpose of bringing men into the salon by innovating products made exclusively for men.

American Crew never forgets its job is to give men and their stylists the tools they need to create stylish, masculine looks every day. They do this by providing shampoo, conditioner, wax, clay, powder and finishing sprays!

Style Masters provides a range of products to suit all hair types including products specifically designed for volume, smooth and curly hair.

Style Masters have also designed products to enhance your look. The Creator collection provides gels, clay, wax and memory spray to produce the salon finish at home!
