Do I need a primer?
Cut the cackle! Tell me straight.

Know This: Primer is not a moisturiser; it is a preparation agent for a smooth makeup application that will last. When using primer, you will still apply moisturiser and sunscreen before applying the primer.

Think of it like this: Primer acts as a wall between your skin and your makeup and gives your foundation something to hold onto other than your skin. This is why your makeup will last longer, as it can't slip into your pores.

Most primer has a silicone base, which sits on top of your skin and has a velvety, silky feel. This allows foundation to slide on nicely and creates a flawless, even canvas to work with. Primer is a marvellous product for those who wear makeup and want it to sit nicely on the skin, and last longer. – Zoe Foster Amazing Face

It is worth buying and using primer if:

- Your makeup doesn't last
- Your skin 'eats' makeup
- You need your makeup to last an especially long time (a wedding, a date after work or a day at the races)
- You don't love using powder
